He was not innocent binself, in the eye of the law I fear he, too, was guilty of rape, and if he stood here on trail, with all this evidence against him, I do not see how he could escape conviction for rape. But he has offered, and the State has accepted, a disclosure of the whole truth, and at least 1 may be said, however guilty he was, hi guilt was less than that of those with whom he was acting. There are facts in the case that make it appear like a double suicide from coal gas coming from the stove in the room where the aged woman and her son were found. When found Mrs. Evarts was just breathing her last. Her son was unconscious and died within an hour after his mother. The old lady was reclining in a chair at the time, while her son lay fon a sofa, not five feet distant. Dr. Burdette Adams, who was called into the case first, declared that he could detect no odor of coal gas in the apartment. The couple had been in destitute circumstances and had been helped by neighbors for some time. An autonsy will be made by Prof. Bartlett to determine the cause of death.

TOO VALUABLE TO BE HANGED. Mercy for a Murderer Actuated by a Mercenary

Motive. Jackson, Miss. Jan 28 Wash Jones, olored, was convicted in the Circuit Court ere yesterday of the murder of his sweet-here yesterday of the murder of his sweetheart on the Saturday might after Christmas, and Judge Powell sentenced him to be hanged on Feb 28. The attorneys appointed by the court to defend him have appealed the case, and will make another effort to save his neck. The murder was a cowardly one, Jones having stuck his pistol through a broken window pane, shooting the woman while she sat in her room entertaining a party of friends. Mississippi does hate to see a good, strong young negro hanged, they make such good farmhands, Jones is about 30 years of age, and is good to live twenty more. If sent to the pentientiary he will be put to work on the State farms and will make ten bales of cotton a year, which, at present prices, would be worth about $500. In twenty years he would make the State $10,000 worth of cotton easily. For these reasons it is hoped here that the attorneys will find some extenuating circumstances and will be able to save their client's neck.

Mayor of Fifty-ninth Street Said Also to Have Drawn & Gun Arrested. William Malbert of 342 West Fifty-ninth street, whom his neighbors call "Wilhelm, the Mayor of Fifty-ninth street, "was locked up in the West Forty-seventh street station last night on a charge of pointing a revolver at a detective and threatening to shoot. McMahon, the detective, and his companion, O'Donnell, from the same precinct, were violating what Wilhelm said was his right of eminent domain. They were in Fifty-ninth street, but right in front of his house, and they had staved there all the evening, in spite of several pails of water showered down upon them from Malbert's windows. They were there under orders from Capt. Donahue, who had received several complaints from the Paulist Fathers about the house in which Malbert lives.

After the water throwing was over Malbert, as the detectives say, appeared on his steps with drawn revolver and told the detectives to get off Fifty-ninth street. Just to hurry them he pointed the gin at McMahon. The two detectives ran up the steps and chased the Mayor through the hall and down into the basement. There he surrendered without firing a shot. the Mayor of Fifty-ninth street, " was locked

"If I had I would have saved him," said to cuba and our troops and our control there must at once be withdrawn. Cuba will then be an independent government, and if the large the fire. control over the island it would be necessary to declare war and conquer the people. To send in the constitution would at once open the whole question of whether the Congress has the right or the power to compel the Ex-Cubs and would put the Administration and Congress and Cuba in a very embarrassing, aduation. According to this Senator the Cuban convention was called for the double purpose of adopting a constitution and declaring what the relations of the people to the government of the United States should be. Evidently no such declaration will be made.

ernment of the United States should be. Evidently no such declaration will be made, and if the constitution is submitted to congress no one can teil what legislation, if any should follow. This Senator evidently believes, as do a great many of his colleagues, that whatever form of government is adopted in Cuba annexation to the United States will ultimately follow. Apparently he is anxious that there should be no extra session, in order that the Cuban question should not be thrust upon Congress until a sufficient for the government and the people of Cuba, and that in the meantime the United States shall not be forced to the necessity of withdrawing this protection.

In all of the discussion about a probable extra session the question of the fate of the Ship Subsidy bill is more or less involved, and the statement has been made by more than one Senator to-day that in indicating his desire for an extra session the President had been governed somewhat by his anxiety for the passage of the pending Frye bill. It is not at all certain, however, that this measure will not be passed at this session. There are votes enough to pass it, but those in charge of the bill have yielded too much to the wishes of those who want to make speeches, and who are more interested in other matters than they are in the Subsidy bill. Time is being wasted in speech making that could be devoted to legislation, and the Republican senators, at an informal conference to-day, decided that patience has ceased to be a virtue and that an "era of business" must begin at once.

censed to be a virtue and that an "era of business" must begin at once.

During the next day or two formal consultations will be held by the Republican Senators, who, in the meantine, will talk more fully to the President and Secretary Root and ascertain as definitely as may be their plans with regard to be islation on the Philippines and cuban questions. The situation will then be convessed, and it will be decided whether to make an attempt to pass the Spooner resolution or other similar legislation that may be found advisable, or whether to droot this programme altogether and let the Cuban question, the Philippines question and the Ship Subsidy bill go over to the extra secsion.

But whatever determination is reached, the present waste of time is to be stopped and an attempt made to dispose of important questions by having the sessions begin at questions of the president when the full speed, and it will depend almost entirely upon the wishes of the President whether the new Congress shall be called in extraordinary session. The suggestion was first made by him, and he is still inclined to think it timely.

THINKS INDIAN REVOLT OVER.

Gen. Lee's Answer to the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Road's Request for Protection. ST Louis, Jan 28 - At the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad headquarters in this city to-day a telegram was received from Brig -Gen Lee assuring the computy that its property in the Indian Territory would be protected in case of any trouble among the Creeks. This despatch was in response to a request for protection against the threatened terring up of their tracks by anti-treaty Creeks. The request was sent to both President McKinley and Gen. Miles by President H. C. Rouse and Vice-President Allen of the road.

The despatch from Gen Lee also stated that he believed the situation had been exaggerated, and that the arrest of 'trazy snake,' leader of the disaffected (recks, would undoubtedly bring the troubles to a peaceable conclusion.
